

About This Index

This is an index to the New Topographical Atlas of Erie Co., New York, from Actual Surveys Especially for This Atlas, which was published in Philadelphia by Stone & Stewart in 1866. It is located in the Grosvenor Room at the Central Library in Downtown Buffalo at the following call number: GRO Folio F127 .E6 S7.

The index is broken into three main sections:

Residential – The names of property holders are listed on the maps. Last names and first initials were usually recorded. Sometimes initials only were listed. It appears that the initials refer to a name, which was previously spelled out. For example, you may see a landowner named J. Johnson and then you may see some surrounding or nearby lots listed as J.J. The indexed names were transcribed as written on the map. Occasionally a name was unreadable. In that case, you may see a question mark in the place of a letter(s) or after a name. A residential index by name and by town are included.

Business – All businesses were listed even if they were listed generically, such as, store or blacksmith. Businesses listed on the maps and in directories printed on the maps, were recorded. Many abbreviations were given for businesses. Unfortunately, no abbreviation key was published with the map. Abbreviation dictionaries and historical knowledge were used to interpret the meanings of the abbreviations. Some abbreviations were very short, so the interpretations may include errors. Asterisks (*) were placed after uncertain interpretations. A business index by name and by town are included.

Specials – Non-business institutions such as churches and schools are included in the Specials section. As with the business listings, abbreviations were numerous and abbreviation dictionaries and historical knowledge were used to interpret their meanings. Asterisks (*) were placed after uncertain interpretations. A specials index by category and by town are included.

Explanation of Column Headings

Name - Individual, business, or specials name. Names are listed last name first even in the case of a business. Example: Robert Adams & Co. would be written Adams, Robert & Co.

Street - If the street that the property was on was labeled, the street name was listed.

Section – Generally refers to the lot number or a small inset map.

Sub-Section – Generally refers to a lot number or provides a landmark such as “near the Clarksburgh Post Office.”

Business Type – Categories were identified by library staff.

Business Listing – Business listings found on the maps

Institution Type - Categories were identified by library staff.

Institution Details – Business/specials listings found on the maps.
